

My family including my 12 year old girl, was unfortunately tuned in to Monday night football when the lady dropped her towel and spread eagled the football player. I have been slowly getting more and more angry. I applaud your actions in taking on these purveyors of crap. Occasionally I cruise by Stern on E, and find his idea of free speech includes a guy sticking his toe up some womens rear end among other obnoxious things. Pay per view is one thing, but this crap is available to the kids.

And no, I am not a right wing nut evangelical.
